Parent Session: January 26: 7:00 – 9:00

Nathan Ory, M.S., is a Registered Psychologist in B.C. He has 37 years of clinical experience working in interdisciplinary settings for children and adults with developmental disabilities and emotional/behavioral disorders. He has specialized in supporting individuals with fetal alcohol spectrum disorder, autism and other intellectual challenges and/or extremely challenging behavior. Nathan will be hosting a discussion group for parents of children with autism and other intellectual challenges on January 26: 7:00-9:00 at the YK1 Board Office which you are welcome to attend.

If you are interested in having him speak directly to concerns that you have about your child, please provide a brief summary of the concerns in the following format:

- What is the typical 'emotional'/developmental/mental age range of this child?
- Academics
- Daily/adaptive living skills (life skills, routines, planning, organizing, communication, memory, etc)
- An example of a situation that demonstrates the concern
  - How often this happens/what contexts (home, school, etc)
  - When/under what circumstances/does something usually happen just before
  - When/under what circumstances does it not occur
  - Is there time to intervene before escalation/how long
  - How do you know/under what circumstances does it end

Function

- What do you think your child is trying to accomplish/avoid?

Supports

- What strategies have you used that work/that don't work (before, during, after)
- Strengths and interests of your child that could be used as supports

Outcomes

- What would you like to see happen in the future
